Golden Group International Expands Focus on Glaro Commercial Facility Solutions

July 30, 2026

Town of Patterson, New York - July 30, 2026 -
Golden Group International is expanding its focus on Glaro products as part of its growing portfolio of commercial restroom and facility solutions. Glaro's American-made waste receptacles, recycling stations, wipe dispensers, and other commercial facility products complement Golden Group International's own line of commercial restroom products, providing customers with durable, design-conscious solutions for commercial buildings, offices, healthcare facilities, schools, government buildings, libraries, theaters, hospitality venues, and other public spaces.

Manufactured in the USA, Glaro products are designed for demanding commercial environments where durability, appearance, and long-term performance are important considerations. A broad selection of finishes and custom color options allows Glaro products to complement a facility's architecture and interior design or coordinate with Golden Group International products for a cohesive appearance throughout commercial restrooms and surrounding spaces.

?Glaro has been an important part of our commercial facility offering, and we see significant opportunity to expand our focus on the line,? said Jackie Transue, President and CEO of Golden Group International. ?Like GGI, Glaro manufactures its products in the USA with a strong focus on quality and durability. Their extensive finish and customization capabilities give our customers the flexibility to coordinate products with GGI restroom solutions or complement the design of lobbies, libraries, theaters, educational facilities, government buildings, hospitality properties, and other commercial environments.?

The Glaro product line available through Golden Group International includes commercial waste receptacles, recycling stations, wipe dispensers, and other facility products designed for high-traffic commercial environments. These solutions support a wide variety of applications, from coordinated waste and recycling programs in corporate, government, and educational facilities to design-conscious receptacles for lobbies, entrances, public areas, theaters, libraries, and hospitality environments.

The expanded focus on Glaro strengthens Golden Group International's position as a single source for coordinated commercial restroom and facility solutions. GGI's American-made menstrual care dispensers and receptacles address commercial restroom needs, while Glaro's American-made facility products extend those solutions into lobbies, corridors, entrances, offices, common areas, and other public spaces.

For architects, designers, facility managers, and procurement professionals, this combination provides the ability to address both functional and design requirements across multiple areas of a facility. Glaro's range of styles, configurations, and finish options allows products to be selected or customized for individual environments, including the ability to coordinate finishes with GGI restroom products or complement a facility's broader architectural and interior design.
